

How to Setup Out of Date Notifications

1. Select Behaviours and then the Tag Out-of-date behaviour.
2. From the middle column select Out of Date.
3. Under Details, input the time threshold parameters.

Global Threshold - If no position has been sent for the asset in a given time frame, the asset will be marked out-of-date.

Moving Threshold - If the asset is marked as moving, override the global threshold with this given time frame.

4. Add the User(s) you wish to receive idling notifications by typing out the name. From the drop down list that appears once you start typing, you can also select the desired User. The User must exist within the Account.

The screenshot shows the Fleet Freedom web interface. On the left, a sidebar lists various notification types. Two items are circled in red: 'Out of Date Tag Out-of-date' in the 'Behaviours' section and 'Tag Out-of-date' in the bottom section. The main area is divided into 'Details' and 'Messages' tabs. The 'Details' tab is active, showing the 'Behaviour Script' as 'Tag Out-of-date'. Below this, the 'Parameters' section contains two time input fields, each with a red arrow pointing to it. The first field is set to '00:30:00' and the second to '00:00:00'. The 'Targets' section at the bottom shows 'Everything' selected, with a note that targets all assets in the company.
